

Call for participation in APRU Mini Certificate in Health Research Ethics

The following are the registration guidelines for free virtual and interactive training, which will be held by APRU. We are looking forward to your participation.

Eligibility

Undergraduate and graduate student at Nagoya University (Please consult with your academic adviser before registering.)

Program

Each session consists of two lectures, which include a 20-minute talk by an expert speaker, followed by small virtual breakout rooms for 30 minutes for students to discuss case studies and/or complete interactive exercises that will help concretize the key concepts.

<https://www.apru.org/event/apru-mini-certificate-in-health-research-ethics-for-students-feb-2024>

Dates

February 16, 23, and March 1, 2024, 10:00 am-12:15 pm (Japan time)

Format

The training will be conducted in English via Zoom. Those who successfully complete all live session hours plus the required “homework” will receive a certificate of participation.

Registration Deadline

February 1, 2024

How to Register

Please email the International Affairs Division at Nagoya University

(intl_consortium@t.mail.nagoya-u.ac.jp) to express your intention to sign up for the program. Then, please register via the web page below.

<https://usc.zoom.us/meeting/register/tJAlf-qoqDMsHNPvj5O2QTQz4gg9r8BBQE9z#/registration>

APRU (Association of Pacific Rim Universities)

An association that brings together leading universities in the Asia-Pacific region to exchange ideas and collaborate toward effective solutions to the challenges of the 21st century. Nagoya University has been a member since 2017.

[Contact]

International Affairs Division, Nagoya University
Takuya Yoshida / Noriko Morisue

E-mail : intl_consortium@t.mail.nagoya-u.ac.jp

Tel: 052-788-6122 (extension : 6122)